HURRY RECIPROCITY VOTE.

Friends of Agreement Hope to Aid Canadian Supporters.

The debate in the Senate on the Canadian reciprocity bill is likely to go forward more rapidly in the next week than heretofore.

The Canadian Parliament will recess July 20. The United States administration and friends of reciprocity in the Senate want to see the measure passed by the time the Parliament recesses as a means of supporting the Liberal party in Canada, which has espoused the agreement.

It is suspected in Washington that the insurgent Senators are eager to delay the vote until after the dissolution of the Canadian Parliament, in order that a sentiment may be aroused in the United States in favor of waiting upon the Canadians before taking action upon the agreement in the United States. The insurgents are preparing amendments and long speeches, and predicting delay. The friends of the measure have the vote to keep the Senate in session and will insist that the debate be continuous until completed. They feel confident of overcoming the obstructive tactics.

The friends of the bill believe that if Congress passes it in July, the conservative will not be able to maintain themselves in the election on the reciprocity issue. The insurgents probably hope to create sentiment against the agreement that will help the conservative cause by delaying action.

MISSOURI MEN MUST TAKE FOLK AS CANDIDATE

Senator Reed Says Democrats Cannot Dodge.

PLEDGE THEIR SUPPORT

Ex-Governor Formally Indorsed in Convention.

A Dinner at Which Folk's Presidential Boom Was Launched Did Not Take Champ Clark Into Consideration—Mr. Reed Declares He Will Stand by His Declaration. Candidacy Fully Recognized.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, yesterday flung down the gage of battle in behalf of Joseph W. Folk, and merry war is promised Missouri Democracy between now and the time the State delegation to the Democratic national convention in 1912 receives its instructions.

SENATOR REED'S INTERVIEW.

Senator Reed, in an interview yesterday, virtually read out of the Democratic party in Missouri any who fail to carry out their convention pledge to support Mr. Folk's Presidential aspirations. Champ Clark is mentioned only incidentally as one who is himself bound by the pledge. Mr. Clark's boom is promised slight encouragement from the junior Senator from Missouri.

Although his attitude does not come as a surprise to the rest of the Missouri delegation in Congress, the public announcement which Senator Reed caused to be spread broadcast yesterday gave rise to some speculation as to Mr. Reed's motive. It was freely charged, in fact, that the Missouri Senator's interview was given out at this early date as a bid for the support of the strong Folk promise in his State. Moreover, as the promise of State indorsement last summer caused Mr. Folk to withdraw from a three-cornered fight for primary preference in the Senatorial race—in which Mr. Reed ultimately defeated David B. Francis, the third aspirant—it is believed Mr. Reed expects little trouble in holding the Folk people with him if he stands by their favorite in the coming fight.

Boom Launched at Banquet.
"Early in the month of June, 1910, a banquet was held in honor of Gov. Joseph W. Folk was held at the Southern Hotel, in St. Louis," he begins. "It was thoroughly understood by the public and by all of those who accepted invitations that the gathering was called for the purpose of inaugurating a movement to secure for Gov. Folk the Democratic Presidential nomination. The letters of invitation so expressly stated. The object and purpose of the meeting was exploited by all of the leading newspapers of Missouri, regardless of their political affiliations, and could not have been and were not misinterpreted."

"Nearly every Democratic State officer, scores of county officers, many members of the State and county committees, hundreds of leading Democrats from all parts of the State responded to these invitations and attended the dinner. Addresses were delivered by men who have long been prominent in the councils of the party. The speakers, in varying language, but in great unanimity of thought, urged the necessity of all elements of the party uniting for the purpose of electing an indorsement of Gov. Folk would have this effect. The orators pledged their unqualified support, and declared that they would be the logical and enthusiastic supporters of an indorsement of Gov. Folk to become a candidate. Their utterances were enthusiastically applauded, and resolutions soliciting Gov. Folk to become a candidate were adopted unanimously and with cheer."

Candidacy Fully Recognized.

"Beyond question, the meeting had the desired effect. It heartened the Democracy of the State. It was the inauguration of a movement which resulted in the various factions forgetting their differences and working together for the success of the ticket. Gov. Folk thereupon announced his withdrawal from the Senatorial race."

"During the weeks and months which followed the candidacy of Gov. Folk was fully and universally discussed throughout the State; the desire of his friends to secure for him an indorsement by the State convention was well known. It was generally conceded that he would be indorsed without question by the then coming State convention."

"The State convention was held on September 14, 1910. It was presided over by Hon. Champ Clark, a temporary chairman, and by Hon. J. J. Russell as permanent chairman. The following resolutions were adopted:

"In the battle for good government, we commend to the Democracy of the United States the leadership of one who has been at all times foremost in the fight and whose work as circuit attorney of St. Louis and governor of Missouri accomplished so much for political and practical reform, which like a tidal wave is now sweeping over the whole country. "Conservative in his administrative office, and progressive in his legislative policy, he is the foe of all grafters, the champion of the honest citizen, the maker of the doctrine of equal rights a living force in the government. Therefore, we nominate for President in 1912 Joseph W. Folk, and pledge to him our hearty support."

Adopted in Good Faith.

"In the campaign following the State convention, it was not only publicly declared in every hamlet, but by common consent it was taken for granted that this resolution of the State convention had been adopted in good faith and would be redeemed in both letter and spirit."

"It is possible to bind a political party by pledges or by contract, then the Missouri Democracy is bound to keep these pledges and retain these promises. To do anything else would be to create dissension, discord, and animosity, which could not but result disastrously in the campaign which lies before us and in other campaigns to follow."

"So far as I am concerned, I am unequivocally for Gov. Folk for President. I have implicit faith in the candor and fairness of Missouri Democrats, and conceive that I take no pleasure when I consider that the Missouri delegation to the national convention will be a delegation devoted to the support of Gov. Folk."

MISSOURI'S STATE SONG.

Missouri, grand old Commonwealth, in buttermilk I drink your health! Your prairies form a verdant park, your Bowling Green produced Champ Clark, your pleasant hills are crowned with schools, you beat the world on raising mules. 'Twould take a year to write a list of all your glowing charms, I wist, but when your birds take down their lyres, and stirred by patriotic fires, attempt to sing Missouri's praise, the hearers scatter forty ways. Missouri's song! And not a line about her elderberry wine, her paw-paw groves and placid streams, wherein the catfish lurks and dreams; and not a word about the corn that rustles in the summer morn; and nothing of the wheat and oats, the hogs, the chickens, and the goats, which help to swell Missouri's fame and hang large tassels on her name! Missouri's song, and naught set down about the city and the town which rose triumphant in a day on plains where bison used to stray. And nothing of the pioneers who labored through the bitter years, who o'er the lonely reaches trod, and builded homes and broke the sod. Your song should be a rugged strain, with strong, victorious refrain, with minor chords that tell of tears, and hardships, toil, and doubts and fears, and pulsing through it there should be a fine heroic melody to tell of men who laughed at scars and fixed their eyes upon the stars. Your anthem is too dull and gray. Missouri, take your song away

GEORGIA BOOMERS SELECT SENATOR BACON AS CHIEF

Legislator Will Head New Chamber of Commerce in Cracker State—Tourists Leave for Gotham To-morrow.

Senator Augustus O. Bacon has accepted the presidency of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, which is to be organized at a meeting in Barnesville, Ga., today. A party of business men of Barnesville, who came to Washington to notify the Southern Commercial Congress of the meeting yesterday, obtained Senator Bacon's consent.

The "boomers" are here to obtain the co-operation of the Southern Commercial Congress in the building of the Capital highway, which is to pass through Columbia, S. C., Raleigh, N. C., Richmond, and to Washington from its starting place at Atlanta.

This morning the Georgians will hold a conference with the officials of the Southern Commercial Congress. The organization of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce is the principal purpose, as this entails the merging of sixty-five bodies in the Cracker State.

The visitors toured from their home State in a Georgia-made automobile. They will leave to-morrow morning for New York, where they will meet members of the New York Chamber of Commerce. Members of the party are William Wakefield, secretary of the Barnesville Chamber of Commerce; Judge C. J. Lester, Col. R. A. Stafford, and E. N. Taylor.

BRIDE ATTEMPTS SUICIDE AFTER HUSBAND'S ARREST

Father Finds Young Woman Writhing on Floor of Room After She Had Taken Dose of Iodine. Spouse Charged with Theft of $41.

Fearing disgrace because her husband, George Bremmerman, a driver for the Manhattan Laundry, had been arrested on a charge of embezzlement from his employer, Mrs. Christiana Hurdle Bremmerman, twenty-one years old, a bride of nine days, last night about 7:30 o'clock tried to commit suicide at her home, 120 Madison place, East 11th St., by taking a dose of iodine.

Her father, with whom she lived, heard her groaning, and, going to her room on the second floor, saw her writhing on the floor and an empty bottle lying beside her. He placed her on a bed and summoned Dr. Anthony M. Ray, of Tenaflytown, Dr. Ray administered an antidote and advised sending her to a hospital. The patrol wagon of the Seventh precinct took her to Georgetown Hospital, where at a late hour last night she was reported out of danger.

Mrs. Bremmerman formerly worked in the laundry, where she met her husband. After a courtship of a year they were married June 1 last, by Rev. G. W. McCullough. Everything seemed to be progressing smoothly for the couple until yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, when Policeman Gentry, of the Eighth precinct, called at the house and placed Bremmerman under arrest for the alleged theft of $41.

Boys and Girls Listen to Maudlin Laughter from Fourteenth Street Entertainment Halls.

That Fourteenth street abounds with evil attractions, where men and women congregate; where boys and girls, lured by the laughter and music, are started on the downward path, was a statement made by Rev. Charles Willey last night, in his sermon at Vermont Avenue Christian Church.

Coming from the prayer service on Thursday night, he said, he would walk up Fourteenth street and see sights that threaten the morals of the younger generation, and one place in particular.

VIEWS SLAIN WOMAN; ARRESTED AS SUSPECT

Special to The Washington Herald.
Marionette, Wis., June 18.—Charles Rauer, thirty-five years old, in under arrest, charged with the murder of a woman, charged by Rev. Charles Willey last night, in his sermon at Vermont Avenue Christian Church.

Coming from the prayer service on Thursday night, he said, he would walk up Fourteenth street and see sights that threaten the morals of the younger generation, and one place in particular.

Rauer and the girl were together last night, according to Rauer's statement to the police, but he denies the murder. Bloody garments were found in his room, but the police are looking for the husband, who, a few weeks ago, was visiting here, it is alleged to have killed the woman. Rauer is charged with the murder of the woman until Rauer visited the establishment of the undertaker this morning and demanded to be allowed to see the body, saying he had been with a woman of that name the night before. When Rauer saw the gaping wound in the woman's throat, he cried: "How can I prove my innocence? My God! I'm done for."

Later, at police headquarters, Rauer declared he had been with the woman until 1:15 o'clock this morning, but refused to tell what he did afterward. He said he slept in an upstairs room at his mother's house, but when the police went to the house his mother insisted he had slept on the first floor. The officers found coat and trousers covered with blood in the room he says he occupied. Rauer insists he left the woman downstairs, but the body was found at the Garfield School in the railroad station.

CONGRESS BLAMED FOR BIG LAW FEES

Department of Justice Will Shift Responsibility.

BY SPECIFIC APPROPRIATIONS

In many instances, Directions from Congress to the Department of Justice for Special Funds for Employment of Outside Counsel—Nearly $1,000,000 Spent in Two Years.

It developed yesterday that a large part of the total money paid out by the Department of Justice for legal assistance in a number of cases—fees ranging from $3,320.47 down—was paid out of special appropriations by Congress for the specific purposes for which they were disbursed.

Following the publication of a list of big fees paid by the Department for legal assistance, a list of which was transmitted to Chairman Beall, of the House committee investigating expenditures in the Department of Justice, the Department yesterday refused to issue any formal statement. The Department takes the attitude that the future testimony before the committee will show that the letter and spirit of the law was complied with in every instance.

Washingtonians Included.

Among the 124 people to whom the Department has paid fees for special legal assistance, as shown in the list furnished Chairman Beall, are a number of prominent Washingtonians, among them Peyton Gordon, who received $19,844.49 for assistance in certain land fraud cases; Jesse C. Adkins, who was employed as outside counsel in the cotton lease case and received $14,867.85; Morgan H. Beach, who received $10,500 for directing condemnation proceedings in the acquisition of Meridian Hill for the government; and Wade H. Ellis, whose activities in another case netted him $11,717.73. Secretary of War Stimson's name appears after the largest item, $33,320.47, for the prosecution of the sugar fraud cases.

In all, according to the list, $5,514.56 has been disbursed by the Attorney General for special legal assistance in the last two years. Of this, however, a large part came from special appropriations and the remainder from two large funds, one for the employment of special assistants to the Attorney General, and the other for the employment of legal assistance to insure the enforcement of the anti-trust law.

Chairman Beall, when he received the list, expressed great surprise that the department should need for so much outside assistance. It is pointed out that practically every case has the department been called upon to handle has involved the employment of outside counsel. The size of the fees paid for this assistance has, in many cases, furnished what Chairman Beall concedes to be excellent material for investigation.

Some Other Big Fees.

Here are some of the other fees noted in the list:

Frank B. Kellogg, Union Pacific and Standard Oil cases, $49,317.13; J. C. McReynolds, anti-trust cases, $35,916.57; Cordeiro A. Severance, anti-trust cases, $33,273.73; B. D. Towson, land fraud cases, $24,018.32; Winfred T. Dennison, sugar fraud cases, $25,325; Marion Erwin, Carter-Greene-Gaynor case, $15,435; H. C. Gauss, examining United States lands of the District of Columbia, $10,372.27.

As many of the fees were paid in full in advance of any special appropriations by Congress, the department does not expect to shoulder the larger part of any blame for extravagance the committee may see fit to attach to the situation. The committee, on the other hand, will make the point that, with an Attorney General, a Solicitor General, an assistant to the Attorney General, a large corps of assistant attorneys general, and the still larger corps of law clerks, the department should find itself fully equipped for the work at hand without calling in so much outside talent.

Unwilling to Talk.

Because of a strict rule in the department against talking for publication, few of those who are still on the pay roll cared to discuss the matter yesterday.

If C. Gauss, however, stated that the $10,372.27 in connection with his name included two years' regular salary for himself and a stenographer and incidental expenses for that time for office work. Mr. Gauss is the secretary of a committee proceeding directed against the department, which was authorized by act of Congress to determine the right of the United States to certain parcels of land in the District. Mr. Gauss said he is still an employee of the Department of Justice, and has been assigned to these cases by Attorney General Wickham. His salary of $1,500 and a stenographer's salary both come out of a special appropriation for that purpose.

Jesse C. Adkins, when questioned last night, said he had received the fee of $14,867.85 for work as outside counsel in the cotton-lease cases. He refused to discuss the matter further.

A. A. Birney, who, according to the Attorney General's list, has received $19,844.49 in connection with condemnation proceedings directed against squares 33 and 34 in the District, said the assignment entailed a great amount of work and had taken the greater part of his time for three years in examining papers, establishing titles, and like occupations. Mr. Birney said he was called in from the outside because the District attorney had not a large enough force to do the work from his office.

During all the excitement preparatory to the Taft celebration to-day the President has been stormed with telegrams and letters from two rival organizations in Indianapolis who desire his presence on July 4.

Letters from the civic organizations plead that he attend their same Fourth of July celebration at the last park, where a field meet will be held and it is planned to have the President present the medals to the winning athletes.

The Associated Brotherhood of Railroad Men have a celebration on the same day at the fair grounds, where a head-on collision of locomotives was to vie with the President as a drawing card.

Each faction denounces the other in bitter terms in the telegrams and letters to the President, and he is at present in a quandary as what his course will be when it comes to celebrating on the Glorious Fourth.

FRIENDS OF DIAZ SHORN OF POWER

Control of Mexican Central Taken Over by Madero.

El Paso, June 18.—Control of the Mexican National Railways, representing hundreds of millions of dollars, which now lies in the hands of a group of Cientificos, close friends of former President Diaz, is to be wrested from them at once by the new Mexican government at the direction of Francisco I. Madero and associates.

This means that the enemies of the revolutionary party are to be deprived of the last vestige of their power, and, in fact, the most important source of their influence. The Cientifico group, of which Senator Jose Y. Limantour is the head, now has a majority of eight on the board of directors. However, the board can be changed by order of the President of the republic.

The present government will remove enough of the members of the dominant faction to destroy the power of the old Diaz clique and replace them with men who can be depended upon. This action probably will be taken within a week.

Cientificos now in the city of Mexico are panic-stricken, and a majority of them are preparing to leave for the United States or Europe, following the example of Limantour and Escandon.

The government, through the influence of Madero, is now preparing to make a rigid examination of all contracts and treasury accounts in which the Cientificos have figured.

An investigation to be started by the Maderists will involve an inquiry into the affairs of a great corporation, representing the Pearson oil interests, which are backed by British capital and controlled by Lord Cowdray.

It is openly charged by influential members of the Madero party that the Pearson company secretly donated $1,000,000 in stock to members of the Cientifico group in order to obtain financial influence on the board of directors of the National Railways. The coming inquiry will deal particularly with the relations between the British company and the former advisers and friends of Diaz. The investigation is to be hastened on account of the report received by the new government that the Pearson company is considering a plan to transfer its holdings in Mexico to financiers interested in John W. Gates, the Texas Oil Company, and the Gulf Refining Company.
